

Microsoft Teams in Office 365 vs. Slack for small business.

Microsoft Teams is a hub for teamwork that gives your teams easy access to the information they need to get more done. No other productivity solution offers such fully integrated experiences with enterprise-grade security.

It's very easy to find a solution that solves an immediate need. But as a business owner, you need a plan to keep your people connected and working efficiently. You need a solution that was designed for your business, and from a company who can deliver consistently great experiences.

Slack is a chat-centric collaboration tool, but isn't tied in to your main productivity suite; many basic teamwork functions must be added on as third-party integrations. Microsoft Teams is integrated in and across Office 365 apps and services. It is much more than just a chat solution: it's a fully-integrated hub for teamwork — with your teams' chats, meetings, files and apps in one place so you can get more done. It comes included at no additional cost in your Office 365 subscription.
