About LinkApi

What is LinkApi

LinkApi was created in 2017 to kill the software integration trauma, our purpose is revolutionize the experience of who builds and for who consumes software integrations.

You probably don't know what an iPaaS is, this doubt is common for many people, even those who work with software development. One iPaaS (Integration Platform As A Service), as the name says itself, is an integration platform offered as a service, building integrations between software in an ecosystem.

Most companies build integrations by themselves, with their own dev team, spending much effort, technical, and mainly intellectual, with the development and support from these integrations. Thinking about this problem, LinkApi born to optimize the process making it easy and faster to do it and to understand it.

Bellow you will see the process to create an integration with LinkApi following the three pillar steps:

- Integration Builder
- Magic distribution
- Advanced Monitoring
