DocFlow Process
Business Process Management system

Almost all companies and structures of all sizes are governed by processes that get more and more complex over time, and require a lot of effort on a daily basis to monitor and correct. Complex Business Process Management Systems (BPM) have emerged, and each one addresses diverse scenarios and have different requirements.

DocFlow Process is a simple and yet powerful BPM, designed from scratch to address real business scenarios, while empowering the top management by offering them the autonomy to create, deploy, audit and optimize workflow.

The use of DocFlow Process as the base of the case management systems for many of our clients, have proven its efficiency by abstracting the different internal heterogenous systems and exposing them to the end user in one place.
