

Discover Unily The award-winning digital workplace solution

Unily is an award-winning, powerful intranet-as-a-service. Designed from the ground up to improve engagement, productivity, and efficiency across your organisation, Unily provides your workforce with the ability to communicate and collaborate from any device, anywhere.

After a decade of custom intranet engagements, we recognised that most organisations have similar core requirements. Unily incorporates them all—and much more—in a custom-built and standalone platform that can be deployed in weeks.

What makes Unily different?

Complete digital workplace platform

Unily is not a set of tools that hook into SharePoint or Office 365, it is a complete digital workplace platform. Custom designed from the ground-up, Unily offers powerful communication, collaboration, productivity and knowledge management capabilities with unparalleled user experience.

Software-as-a-Service

Unily uses an Opex model rather than Capex, enabling you to rapidly deploy a managed digital workplace that is supported and improved, all as part of a manageable subscription.

Flexible options for frontline

Unily Hub and Engage give you the flexibility to support both your head-office and frontline employees with the right technology. In a retail environment, this allows you to engage frontline staff with company comms straight from their mobile device, without the need for additional Microsoft licenses.

Intuitive content management system

An easy to use, centralised Content Management System empowers non-technical users from across the business to create and govern content for a global audience, manage permissions, create newsletters and notifications, manage forms and more.

Configurable platform

Unily's user-experience engine Hendrix provides a configurable intranet platform that puts the power in your hands. Create rich, mobile-friendly pages, sites, widgets, directories and more without the need for a lengthy development process.

Create any digital experience

Unily is more than a digital workplace platform. Over the years, Unily has matured to become a horizontal portal, able to support internal and external digital experiences across different touchpoints, audiences and industries. Extensive flexibility allows the product to succeed in a full suite of environments; B2E, B2C and B2B.

Customer Success Framework

Based around four pillars, plan, design, launch and grow; Unily is supported by a tried and tested customer success framework that supports on-going development. Our dedicated team of customer success managers work closely with every client to implement the framework and maximise returns on investment.

Customer driven roadmap

With an evergreen roadmap driven by customer requests, Microsoft releases and Unily innovation, Unily is continually improving and evolving to provide your team with the freshest capabilities managers work closely with every client to implement the framework and maximise returns on investment.
