

bludelta.ai – Artificial Intelligence for Your Invoice Capturing

Do you buy a pig in a poke?

Of course not says your mind! However, in the invoice capturing market this is what happens on a daily basis. Why? Because the incumbent's systems require a lot of time to set up a project, get hardware, install software, etc. By the time you can test first invoices by yourself it takes months! And guess what, often the customers are disappointed because the experience does not reflect the shiny, automated, digitalized world the incumbent's account manager painted for you.

Bludelta.ai is different. AI and Azure Cloud allows you to test and integrate data extraction of your invoices instantly (visit <https://bludelta.ai/testen>).

You will experience:

- High extraction quality
- Easy integration
- Transparency through instant test capability