CUSTOMER SUCCESS STORIES

When Cineplex first approached us they were looking for a system that allowed more freedom of design and online sales. On top of that, we helped them bring all their web properties together, connecting to their back-end systems to automatically update show times and providing an easy user-experience for team members to update content.

Hockey Canada set out to find a CMS that was flexible and responsive. With Agility CMS, team members can easily update content for their millions of visitors, such as game schedules, scores and other information. Our hosting options ensure that the website performs optimally during high-traffic times, such as international tournaments.

Living Arts Centre were looking for a user-friendly CMS that allowed them to rely less on manual configuration and technical know-how to update content. They also wanted a website that could be accessed across different devices. With Agility CMS, any member of the team is now able to update content regardless of their technical knowledge and, on top of that, their website boasts a modern design that can be viewed on any device.
