

5 reasons why you should use cloudmigratorgo

Not only is CloudMigrator Go a great tool for customers, but it's also the next step in migration technology for you.

We've designed this with both customers and partners in mind, ensuring you can provide the best product and service in all of your migration needs.

Here are our top five reasons why you should be using CloudMigrator Go as part of your own migration service:

Move more and move it faster

We've always prided ourselves on speed when it comes to migrations, and with CloudMigrator Go we've again managed to save you time. Shaving hours off migration projects, CloudMigrator Go allows you to perform more migrations in less time, enabling you to tackle multiple projects with confidence leaving both you and your customers very happy.

Optimise your technical resources

As CloudMigrator Go is a turn-key solution with no infrastructure required, you won't need much technical know-how to operate. This means that migrations using CloudMigrator Go can easily be taken on and executed by junior engineers, leaving your more experienced engineers to concentrate on bigger, more complex projects.

Free up time to be spent on projects

Ready to go right out of the box and migrating data with precision and speed, using CloudMigrator Go will give you back precious time and resources to be used in other areas of a project. With the migration taken care of, you can spend more time concentrating on your customers.

Grow your business

Not every customer wants or needs the full migration package, and for those do it yourself businesses needing to migrate just a handful of customers, CloudMigrator Go is a great product to offer. This enables you to take advantage of every business opportunity, making even the simplest migrations profitable.

Reliability everyone can trust

We've worked hard to bring you a simple, fast yet reliable product that gets the job done. Already trusted by the likes of Netflix and Spotify, CloudMigrator Go will bring you the kind of credibility your customers are looking for.
