

Overview:

"Item Code Generator" produces a unique item code or SKU code that makes it easy to find, search and refer products from lists, invoices, order forms etc.

Features:

- Generates uniform item master automatically
- Checks and notifies for duplicate Item code
- Step by step category attribute selection to generate a unique Item code
- Creates Logical item parameter
- Creates dependency of attributes, if any
- Automatically generates item description based on selected attributes value
- Generated Item Code will be listed in item master automatically
- Attach item DATA TEMPLATE with item configurator

Unique item codes ensure that you don't face hassles in storing, manufacturing or supplying

If you or your system can't uniquely find an item, you can't possibly know its activity, whereabouts or status within your inventory. A small business or an organization that doesn't store much inventory is good to go. But large companies or companies handling retail products have varied items. It is a hassle for them to either give long descriptions or a long, complicated numbers to each item in their inventory.

This is where item codes come into picture. Item codes or SKU codes are used to uniquely identify items in your inventory. Item codes also serve as a short form of long item descriptions. Thus, they help in streamlining and speeding up the data entry process and inventory management.

Our app, Item Code Generator, helps you in providing custom codes to each item based on some logic or algorithm. You can create a system that's easier to work with and uses your own unique and customized numbers. It generates a uniform item master automatically so you have a list of all the item codes. You can also add dependency of attributes i.e., some elements of the code appear only when a certain element is selected.

Item Code Generator makes your work easier and streamlines the process of inventory and supply chain management. Stay assured that no duplicate codes will be generated, thus avoiding any errors.

Try this app now for better productivity, less complications and more automation.

Benefits:

- As inventory management becomes more efficient with Item Code Generator, it helps in identifying product loss and creating transparency.
- Item codes are highly effective when you're dealing with thousands of products. Naming them all and adding descriptions is a tedious task if done manually. This app avoids human errors like duplication in counting of items, counting wrong items, etc.
- Managing huge inventory is difficult. With Item Code Generator, knowing how much of each product is in hand becomes easy. You can set alerts when a certain product runs out of stock or is less than a minimum level set.