

Leverage end-to-end genomic data management and analysis solution with built-in quality control

Conduct both genotyping and next-generation sequencing and combine secondary and tertiary analysis to save time

Incorporate genetic variant data aggregated from public databases for streamlined identification of contraindication-causing variants

Empower physicians with clear, actionable insights to enable more effective treatment recommendations from tiered risk scores.