

Warehouse and Labor Management Made Easy

Today's distribution environment is more complex than ever. Warehouse managers are under a lot of pressure to:

- Maximize throughput
- Minimize cost
- Optimize labor productivity
- Meet shipping deadlines

THE RAPIDLY CHANGING WORLD OF A WAREHOUSE MANAGER

Consumers are the new boss and are driving rapid change, and warehouse managers need to stay ahead of this if they want to stay profitable and competitive. It's no longer about keeping up with orders. It's about:

- Delivering profitability and meeting customer's increasing needs
- Offering flawless customer service and instant visibility

To meet these demanding needs, warehouse managers need to be able to:

- Quickly adapt to change
- Optimize and execute tasks to get the right inventory, at the right location, at the right time, cost and condition

COMMON WAREHOUSE MANAGEMENT SYSTEMS (WMS) STATISTICS

Increase warehouse efficiency up to 20%

- Improve utilization
- Achieve direct and indirect labor optimization
- Interleaving and multitasking

Boost revenue by 2%

- Reduce order cycle time
- Improve fill rate
- Enhance customer service

Improve accuracy and visibility up to 10%

COMMON WAREHOUSE LABOR MANAGEMENT (WLM) STATISTICS:

Lower total labor costs up to 10% with employee incentive programs

Decrease labor costs up to 10% with engineered labor standards

Lower labor costs by up to 8% with more accurate planning and scheduling

Improve labor utilization up to 30%

Decrease training costs up to 20%

REAL RESULTS

Some JDA customers who have implemented a WMS have achieved substantial ROI:

25%
or more reduction in fulfillment cost

10% to 35%
reduction in inventory storage and handling cost

99.8%
or better inventory visibility and accuracy

up to 50%
reduction in dock-to-stock time

UNDERSTANDING YOUR WAREHOUSE OPERATIONAL PERFORMANCE

To help better understand your warehouse operational performance, ask yourself the following questions:

1. Are your warehouse operations and processes flexible enough to meet increasing consumer demands?

2. Are you able to dynamically adjust your labor plans and workflows to quickly react to changes in your business?

3. Can you scale quickly to handle surges in today's omni-channel world?

4. Is your workforce mobile enabled and able to respond proactively to ever-changing conditions?

5. How do you deal with surges, such as seasonal demand, where you'll be faced with overtime, intensified labor schedules, increased customer orders, waves to optimize labor and complex transportation plans?

JDA's Warehouse Management System (WMS) and Warehouse Labor Management (WLM) can help you meet your demands head on. Find out how by contacting JDA today at 800.479.7382 or jda.com.