

What are Qloudable Learn® Training Labs?

Training Labs are self-contained cloud labs that any approved ISV publishers can provide to customers and end users to help them learn how to use their software. Publishers can use Training Labs to create an intuitive, engaging learning experience with their solutions. Each lab contains a set of tasks, and an interactive console to perform the activities for the lab.

This is all contained within a single screen experience, so learners can stay focused and have easy access to all the tools and support they need.

Training Labs bring...

Interactive Learning Experience:

Publishers can deliver real experiences with their software in a single-screen experience.

Publisher Self-Service:

With all assets in one place, publishers have less to manage and can create better training.

Monetization:

Publishers can offer flexible pricing models for their labs, based on customer, software, etc.