

Functional ERP built for SMEs

As globalization of business blurs the lines for most business processes, for many environments, it has become critical to get tool that differentiates your business and provide a significant edge over your competitive. An Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) Software provides this winning edge. An ERP is used by businesses looking to manage their business functions within a centralized and integrated system. An ERP stores all data inputs into a single database, allowing all departments to work with the same information. Additionally, all this data can be organized, analyzed and made into reports. An ERP systems bring together customer management, human resources, business intelligence, financial management, inventory and supply chain capabilities into one system..
