Control of overtime and budget spend

Reduction in sickness levels

Balance staff needs with organisational requirements

Automate end-to-end process management

*"GRS has provided a one stop shop for coordinating our resource deployment, training, skill management and succession planning...
It is user friendly, simple and yet provides a wealth of management information.
GRS provides all this information live at the touch of a single button!"*

Rostering & Duty Management

GRS automates development and maintenance of rosters, enabling efficient use of staff time. Day-to-day tools allow short notice changes, whilst demand and forecasting facilities provide monitoring of current and future resources.

Employee Self-Service

The employee self service aspects reduce central workload, helping to avoid repetitive administrative procedures, empowering employees and giving them confidence in organisational procedures.

Interfacing with other systems

GRS can work with your existing systems, allowing a single point of entry for key information and, with reliable transfers of data, provides confidence in the quality of the information your organisation relies on.

Recording and Analysis

GRS modules work together by combining comprehensive absence and sickness recording with tools for workforce planning. Reporting facilities enable workforce data interrogation and monitoring against policies and targets.

Automated Notifications & Alerts

Customisable notifications and alerts can be set up to avoid breaking local and organisation-wide rules, encourage policy compliance, and to help employees in their daily planning tasks.

Mobile Solutions

GRS Web and GRS Mobile components of the product suite enable managers and staff to log in to GRS with their mobile devices, providing access to management tools and the employee self service features.
