EXPERTS IN AUTOMATION

AUTOMATION IS THE ANSWER

If your IT environment is like most these days, you're running lean, stretched to the limit and exhaustedly watching your responsibilities increase as headcount shrinks. Jobs are being consolidated so you're asked to undertake more, squeezed by the pressure to drive significant business value while making sure the day-to-day, keep-the-lights-on operational tasks are covered. What is a busy IT professional to do?

Automation is the answer. Consider what it could mean for you:

Relieve your brain of the mundane. Your mind was made for better things than manual, predictable, repeatable tasks. Automation gets you out of the process micromanaging business by building systemized management and deployment capabilities around routine procedures like application pushes, server imaging, workstation management and more.

Do more in less time. Automation lightens the tedious task burden and substantially boosts your productivity so you can accomplish a heck of a lot more in a short amount of time like the IT hero you are.

Achieve better work-life balance. Naturally, some tasks have to take place outside of business hours. But why take up more of your post-five o'clock time than you must? Automation could be the key to faster off-hours task completion and more sleep at night.

LET'S BRING YOUR AUTOMATION VISION TO LIFE

Model Technology Solutions exists to help organizations realize the power of automation, and we would be pleased to partner with you in the right capacity to get you where you want to be.

CONSULTING: FOR PROJECT PARTNERSHIP

Perhaps time is not on your side. Or maybe you're undertaking a unique project and need a deeper level of expertise. Model's consulting services have you covered with expertise in technologies like OS deployment automation, System Center, Azure automation, Enterprise Mobility Suite, client and datacenter automation and more. We also offer specialized consulting solutions such as:

- Windows 10: Ready or not, Windows 10 is where it's at and going to be for the foreseeable future. We can help you get equipped, get educated, and get it going.
- Server provisioning: Enable bare metal server provisioning into your Hyper-V environment like it's your job (because it is).
- Automated patching: Brilliantly unite your patching processes and System Center Configuration Manager (SCCM) environment with Model's custom PowerShell runbooks and database to automate all aspects of server patching.

MANAGED SERVICES: FOR ONGOING EXPERTISE

Your needs may extend beyond the life of a project to include ongoing management that's best handled by specialists. Model's managed services division exists to fill this need. We provide consultative-level support rather than service desk-level support, which means you get someone with real life consulting experience rather than someone who is working off of a script. Our experts in technologies like SCCM and DSC implement best practices to produce a healthy and predictable environment, which frees your team up to focus on the bigger picture items and allows you to meet desired service level agreements and objectives.
