

Protiviti's Workplace Return Accelerator

Empower your Organization to Return to Work Easily and Safely

As concerns of the COVID-19 pandemic slowly begin to transform, companies are contemplating critical decisions on how to best return to the office while evaluating the various risks that will arise due to these decisions. However, as back to office efforts are planned and implemented, there are several factors that management should consider including third-party access, travel restrictions and employee health considerations.

Protiviti's Return to Work Accelerator, built on the Microsoft® Power Platform, is a customizable, multilingual tool that enables organizations to schedule, automate and streamline office visits, third-party access, travel requests, and employee health tracking. The pre-configured template can be tailored to your organizations' needs giving your employees the confidence to return to work easily and safely.
