At Kopsis, we exist to create simple solutions for the most complex challenges.

THE LEGEND BEHIND THE NAME

The landscape of industry is always changing, but the one constant for every organization is the running up against complex problems.

Complex problems are nothing new. They've existed throughout history, where we turned to for the name of our company. Specifically, the tale of Alexander the Great. Legend has it that in ancient Greece there was a town without a king, and an oracle said that the next person to come along with an ox cart would become the king of that town. One day, a man named Gordius came along with that ox cart, and he became the king. In gratitude for all the blessings that had been bestowed upon him, he hung the ox cart on the gate and tied it with a knot. But this was no ordinary knot. This was an immensely complicated knot.

Over time, legend grew that whomever was able to untie that knot would be the conqueror of all of Asia. Thousands tried and tried, but no one was able to untie that knot, until one day, Alexander the Great came along, and instead of approaching it the way everybody else did, he looked at it and thought about it differently. He thought innovatively, pulled out a sword and sliced through that knot. And, as a result, became the conqueror of all of Asia. That knot was known as the Gordian knot. The sword was a Kopsis.

At Kopsis, we exist to create simple solutions for the most complex challenges. We approach them through simplicity, innovation, experienced eyes and listening ears. The more complex the problem, the more excited we are to solve it.

For us, Kopsis is not just a name, it's the idea that drives us every single day. It's a stake in the ground on how we solve problems and around which we have built our culture.

KOPISCARES

THE KOPIS LEGACY

Cutting through complex community problems.

We believe in the power of community and the impact it makes for generations. That's why we started KopisCares. We want to tackle and solve complex problems facing our community today.

We ask ourselves every day, "What problems are we uniquely positioned and resourced to understand, see and solve." The answers to that question are the reason KopisCares exists.

MAKING A LASTING IMPACT

Creating the next generation of leaders.

NEXT High School's mission is to prepare young people for life, a value that aligns with our vision as well. The school quickly realized a complex problem existed; many students who were accepted weren't able to thrive without tools like tutoring and (required) tablet devices, but many lower income families struggled to afford these tools. We saw a simple solution and stepped in. Kopis made a 3-year commitment to NEXT High School to help solve that problem. We believe we can make a difference in these students lives through education and technology, from the time they enter NEXT High School to the time they graduate.

"We're passionate about education and technology and how we can serve our community through both."

- Andy Kurtz
