Outsourcing at its best

Outsourced Project Management

We provide a seasoned and experienced development manager to work with your inhouse team to get a project started in the right direction and keep it moving that way. Great for when you're considering a "taster" project in a technology that you're not yet familiar with. Help your team jump straight to best practices.

Outsourced Technical Specialists

We provide technical specialists to assist in your project on an ongoing basis or during project initiation or at specific junctures in the project. We can also provide a cost effective review and remediation approach to projects which may have come off the rails and get everything back on track or reshape it.
