Internal ticketing for service tickets, approvals and requests. Get set up in minutes.

"When we have an issue, it always feels like all or nothing. We have no processes in place." – Phil, COO

Sound familiar?

Multiple email inboxes, triaging tickets, long messaging threads, no tracking.

24 hours

The average response time for an internal ticket is 24 hours.

Without a central portal to submit requests, employees are constantly having to figure out how issues should be resolved.

Employee wages, remote work and cross-functional teams

$40

The average cost for an internal ticket can reach upwards of $40

Employees and responders should have designated processes and templates to resolve tickets and requests quickly.

This changes with Jetdocs

We help growing organizations automate their internal tickets and approvals across different service teams.
