

Timesheets Do Not Work!

TiM is the answer long sought after by the professional services industry. Professionals all over the world struggle to increase profits while servicing their clients; hourly rate increases are no longer the answer. We professionals need to find a way to bill for the work we do, and still focus on our clients. We need TiM!

The problem is magnified by the twenty-four seven-work day where we are constantly interrupted by the digital world. Clients are calling our cell phones, e-mailing at an ever-increasing rate, and even texting. The clients want attention, we want to help them, but we also need to be paid for the time we spend on our clients.

The problem is not solved by working harder, or by doing a better job of writing down how we spend our time; how can we do that without writing down every little time increment? We would spend our entire day writing time entries rather than working. TiM is the answer!

"Business has changed forever; clients now demand our time not only by face-to-face and phone calls, but via e-mail, text, and other electronic means.

I'm constantly being interrupted throughout the day, and at the end of a nine-hour day I can only account for four or five hours."
