Transforming learning development in your organisation
Are your existing systems limiting learning potential?
Are you dissatisfied with an existing LMS that isn’t improving engagement, hasn’t driven the efficiencies expected or doesn’t create the reports you need?
Are you frustrated by traditional paper-based systems and classroom training that is inefficient and difficult to measure?
Are spiralling training costs limiting your organisational development?
Is limited access to learning restricting employee development?
Are you dissatisfied with compliance and engagement levels?
Can you demonstrate the true impact learning is delivering and prove return on learning investment?
Kallidus Learn: mobile-friendly for the modern learner.
Setting a new standard for learning

Learn streamlines the delivery and management of e-learning, classroom training, learner achievement and administration. With all learning material in one place that suits their place, learners can access learning faster than ever before, on a range of devices, at a time and a location that suits them. Through intuitive dashboards, managers can access complete clarity over individual and team progress, quickly identifying knowledge gaps and opportunities. Developed by our team of design experts, Learn immerses employees in a rich experience that encourages them to look beyond their essential training to drive greater development and save time by focusing on development. Automation ensures managers can focus on what they do best, accessing and improving learning outcomes. With all learning material in one place, you will rapidly improve your learning and management of e-learning and demonstrate the delivery of your training programs.
Give your users the modern experience they expect.

Exceptional implementation, service & support

Unlike many other software providers, we don’t just want to sell you a license. When you work with Kallidus, you gain access to 15 years of expert industry knowledge, a multi-award winning content development team and exceptional customer service. Combined with hands-on support, proven project management methodologies and an exacting attention to detail, we consistently deliver exceptional solutions to the highest standards.

The first step to working together is a short, exploratory conversation to understand your learning and development objectives. We’ll then schedule a demonstration to show you exactly how Learn will overcome your challenges and help you achieve your goals.
The Challenge

The Northern Devon Healthcare NHS Trust (NDHT) faced challenges related to staff learning and development. Away from work – both in and out of hours – significantly impacted clinical effectiveness, patient care and efficiency measures. The Trust had access to an NHS-funded National Learning Management System but found the quality, usability and accuracy of the system hindered rather than improved learning outcomes, leaving staff disengaged and wary of online learning mechanisms.

NDHT relied heavily on face-to-face learning instead, yet training venue costs, travel and time away from work – both in and out of hours – stymied the impact of learning. The Trust needed a user-friendly system that was easy to navigate and access, with learning prospectuses and with learning mechanisms that felt relevant and meaningful. Kallidus was the ideal partner for the project.
