71% of executives say that cybersecurity concerns impede innovation at their organisation.

69% of organisations now recognise security as a business enabler rather than a business blocker.
60% of organisations are not embedding security at the start of business initiatives.
The traditional view of cybersecurity is no longer fit for purpose

To compete in a modern marketplace you need to be able to adapt to opportunities in real-time.

This requires unprecedented digital agility and flexibility whilst also maintaining security and data integrity.

You need a solution that weaves real-time security telemetry and response into every part of your digital fabric.
