A word from our managing director

I'm Steve Rastall, the Managing Director of igroup, a Microsoft Gold Certified Partner, specialising in Azure.

igroup's journey began in 2005 with a humble investment of just £1500. Since then, we've grown the business to become a multi-site, multi-million-pound business.

igroup's success is continually driven by investing in the right people. We believe in our employees. Every person here at igroup has the same set of successful traits – friendly people, who have a positive 'customer first' attitude, who will take actions to generate results, and ultimately, loves what they do each day. We like to think of it as igroup DNA.

I'm proud to say the igroup team has a vast combination of expertise representing Microsoft solutions. Over our years' of experience, we've developed a strong, structured approach to enable us to successfully deploy solutions that satisfy our customers.

We take immense pride in the fact that we have such long lasting relationships with our customers. Understanding the challenges and pain points that businesses experience within IT is what we do best.

We look forward to working with you.

Our History

igroup has developed CAMS technology to automate and simplify managing cloud infrastructure.

igroup is a Microsoft Gold Certified partner delivering consultancy, support and hosting of software services in the UK. igroup started out developing software on mobile devices. The company grew rapidly and by 2007 had moved into the Microsoft space focusing on SharePoint, then Azure in 2010.

Back in 2012, we identified that businesses were suffering from the same repetitive issues around cloud configuration and maintenance, disaster recovery, anti-virus, and malware protection, both prior to, and following on from a move to the cloud. We created a piece of software called Cloud Control which then evolved into our CloudOps Active Management Solution (CAMS).

In 2017, we identified another widespread problem within businesses across the UK. Managing IT infrastructure in the cloud can very quickly run up expensive monthly costs. Most cloud solutions do not provide a straightforward way to track and analyse your usage, or set budget alerts. igroup created IT Cost Control (This then evolved into our CloudOps Active Management Solution (CAMS)) an IT financial management solution, which is now typically saving businesses up to 20% of their overall cloud spend.

In 2021, we launched the CloudOps Active Management Solution (CAMS) our always-on cloud support and management solution which reduces costs and ensures optimum infrastructure performance. It can be implemented across any existing or new AWS and Azure environment letting customers focus on delivering applications and services, not managing their cloud infrastructure.

We continue to strive to improve the customer experience using Microsoft Azure.
