

The Trivadis Azure Foundation

The Trivadis best practice procedure for introducing Microsoft Azure as an enterprise-ready cloud platform

A cloud platform can be introduced quickly, easily and without requiring in-depth knowledge. This means all the benefits of cloud computing are immediately available to the specialist departments. Word spreads quickly about these benefits and other specialist departments follow suit. But as the number of projects increases, it's easy to lose the overview and the transition to the cloud can end in chaos. The mass of individual cloud projects could lead to security gaps, downtimes or snowballing costs. The costs for operations and management could skyrocket.

The Trivadis Azure Foundation is our proven approach to preventing this chaos. It makes a structured introduction of the Azure cloud in your company possible and ensures that the requirements for governance, security and compliance are consistently planned and implemented. The Trivadis Azure Foundation provides the basis for you to enable innovative cloud use in your specialist departments while also ensuring operations and management by your IT.

Our Trivadis Azure Foundation is based on three pillars – Azure Governance, Azure Core Infrastructure and Azure Operation. All three areas are analyzed, planned and implemented according to our tried-and-tested best practices. Our process ensures that all relevant issues are considered at the proper time. The Trivadis Azure Foundation lays the groundwork on which the requirements of the specialist departments can be built as Azure Solutions.
