

Data Readiness Assessment for Microsoft Cloud Adoption

Bring clarity to your cloud migration with our next-generation technology.

Lighten the load with accurate planning and budgeting

Our Data Readiness Assessment is all about maximising the cost efficiency of your new cloud platform. Powered by AI and machine learning, our InsightMaker software helps you understand what data you'll be migrating and what you'll leave behind, so you can accurately budget for the required storage and ditch redundant and obsolete information.

What's involved?

InsightMaker can be provided as an Azure-hosted, private cloud-hosted, or on-premises implementation. Our consultants will install and configure the software to crawl your source location(s), then work with your team as we collect, analyse, and document the findings. We finish up the process with a playback workshop and decommissioning of the application. Here's what you get:

- Forensic examination and enrichment of unstructured information
- Classification of current, out-of-date and duplicate information
- Visibility of more than 30 information metrics, including quality, quantity, and usability
- Identification of high-risk PCI, PII, or Personal Data
- Detailed file listings to support cloud migration
- Overview reports for an at-a-glance summary
- A playback workshop to explain our findings

What are the benefits?

- Gain accurate insight into the scope of cloud migration needed
- Build and prioritise a programme based on statistical outputs
- Eliminate redundant and obsolete data transferred to the cloud
- Cut cloud infrastructure costs by catering for the right information only
- Helps to inform and optimise archiving and disposal strategy
- 'Infrastructure-in-a-box' works in existing cloud or on-premises environments
- Quick and easy process

We are Aiimi

We are a tech company that specialises in data and information. We believe that companies who win at data will become their market leaders, so we built a software platform to make sure our clients are first across the line and paired it with a crack team of consultants who work with the latest Microsoft technologies.

Our software platform is called InsightMaker, because that's what it delivers. Simple. Usable. Insight.

Whether you're planning a cloud migration, looking to archive old files, use enterprise search across your business, comply with GDPR, or get the most accurate data science insights, InsightMaker continually adapts to your needs.

"We are looking forward to investing further in Aiimi's cutting-edge technology. Working with InsightMaker over the next five years will help us deliver our services at maximum efficiency, right across our business."

- Mark Froggatt, Head of Solutions at Anglian Water's @one Alliance

Get in touch to find out more about how our Data Readiness Assessment can help you at enquiries@aiimi.com