Solving Customer Challenges

While these solutions provide Microsoft customers with unmatched value and flexibility, the number and complexity of these tools can be intimidating and confusing. Each individual technology has many technical and financial considerations which are made more complex when considering integrations with other Microsoft and non-Microsoft technologies.

Some of the most common challenges Microsoft Security customers have faced include:

- Incomplete requirements gathering
- Designs not aligned requirements
- Stalled / incomplete rollout
- Overworked deployment resources
- Staff lacking product experience and training
- Missing or unaware of integration or features
- Lack of automation capabilities
- Uncertainty of solution efficacy
