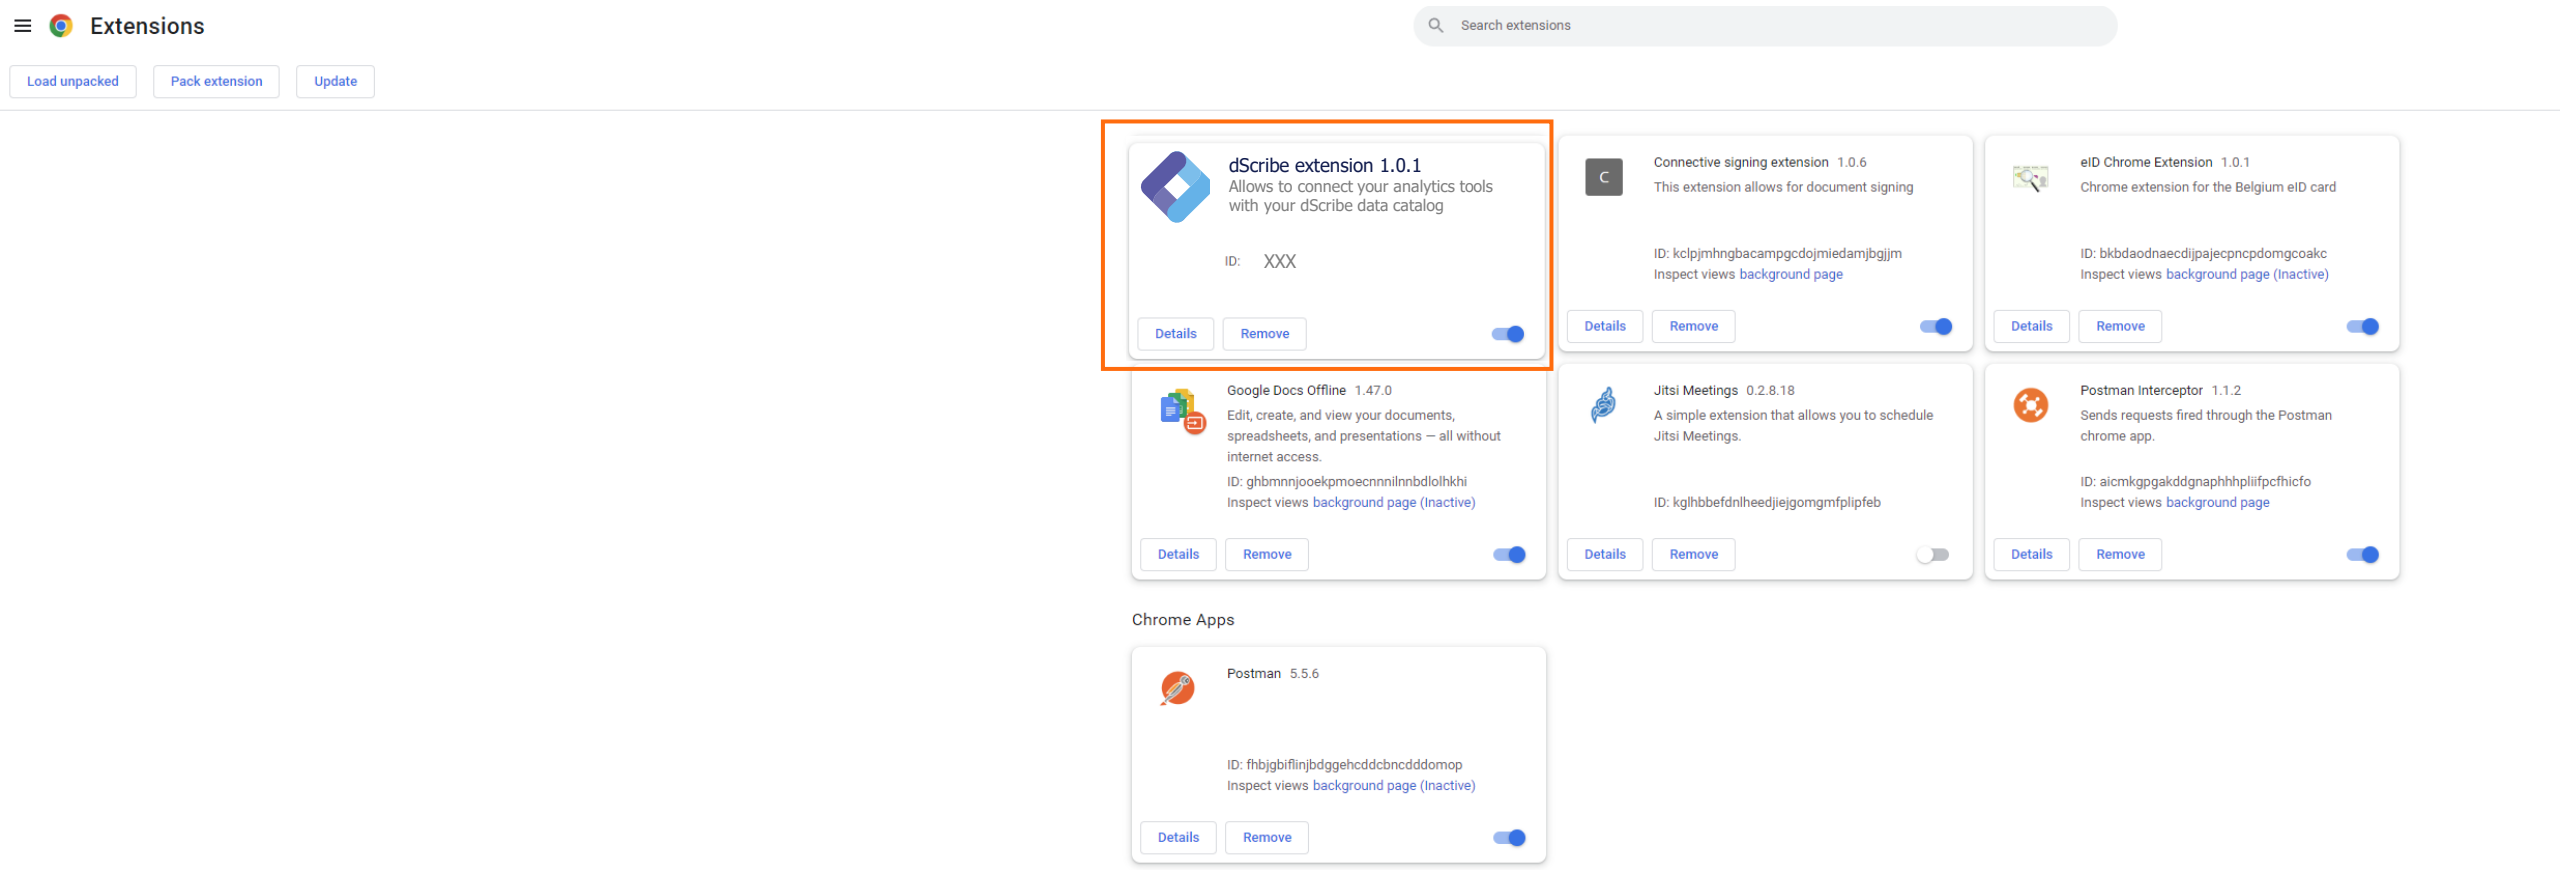
Browser Plugin concepts

02.11.22

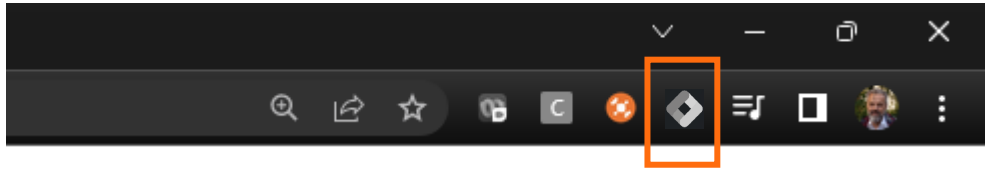
Steps to execute (1/..)

1. Availability of the plug-in as per below. This will require the extensions/PI to be available in the stores of the different browsers we will support (Safari not being one of them)

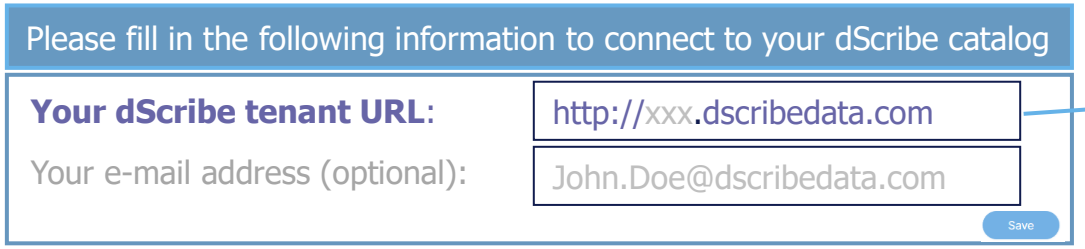


Steps to execute (2/..)

3. Once the extension is installed the 'dScribe' logo should be available in the extension menu bar, but greyed out



4. Upon hoover, the following message should appear: Connecting your dScribe data catalog



Nice to have: can we set this up in the sense that the customer only has to fill in the xxx part of the URL? Knowing that the rest is standard

Clicking away will not save the settings, nor will it keep them (nice to have but not absolutely essential to have)

5. Once successfully connected the coloured dScribe logo should be available.

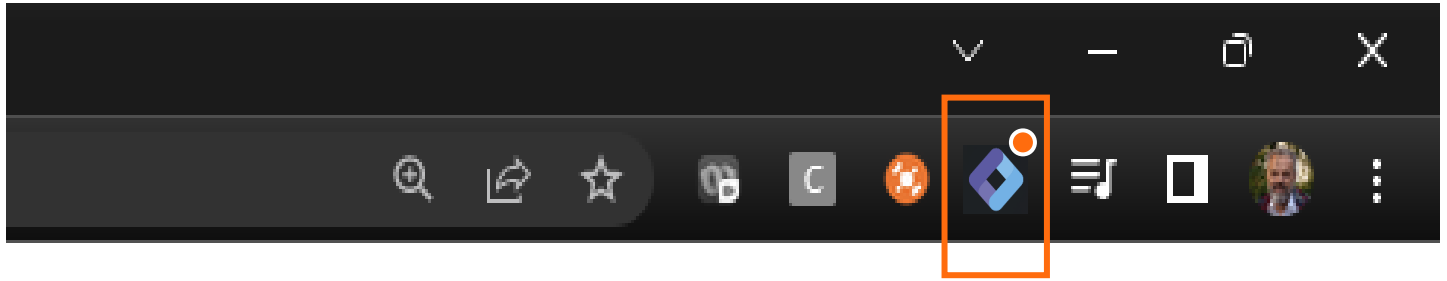
6. If not successful, a warning should appear:

Steps to execute (3/..)

7. Once in the execution of a report in the front-end tool, it would be great if we can indicate that for the report ID executed, dScribe documentation exists. An idea would be to use an orange dot besides the dScribe logo



8. Upon clicking on an additional tab opens with the documentation of the report. (see next slide)
9. If no direct link to an asset is found, the click should lead the user to the homepage of dScribe. Unless option as described in point 7 is not feasible.

Expected behaviour of the header:
The header is displayed in blue, is underlined and should be clickable and will lead the user to the asset in dScribe (displayed in a new browser tab)
Ideally the validation status is also shown
Expected available information:
The idea is to only show 2 tabs : General & Relations
See next slide for the relations tab layout
Expected behaviour of the sections:
The first available section in the layout config of the report shows un-collapsed. Others are collapsed
No horizontal scroll, only vertical scroll. Meaning components shown should adjust to the 800 by 600 pixel format of the max frame to be used
Vertical scroll only appears when really needed.
