

adaptiv.educate

The strategic decision has been made. The business is moving ahead with an integration project to drive significant value from disparate but critically important applications. But the question is: 'What technologies and approach are best suited for your needs?'

Challenges

You're overloaded with information on technology platforms, API management, and how to enforce consistency and security for your line-of-business, mobile and legacy applications, website and new systems. You've downloaded and read Microsoft whitepapers and watched the videos. But where to from here?

Solution

adaptiv.educate is a half-day technical product briefing designed to provide a deep dive into the technology platforms you are considering (and any others we feel have been overlooked).

Ideal for IT Managers, Development Leads,
Architecture Teams, Heads of Applications, CIOs and CDOs.

Outcome

By the end of the session you will understand what each of the technology platforms you are considering is capable of, the respective business benefits, potential cost savings and more.
