Gaining insight

Personalized and actionable insights

• Measure the impact of work on people and organization

Discover the possibilities to optimize business processes. We analyze the current situation and look for opportunities within the organization. We look at your goals and ambitions regarding the use of Viva Insights and translate them into desired scenarios. We enable you to protect and promote the wellbeing, productivity and involvement of employees and managers. We set up organization-specific dashboards and analyze the data. Then develop a data-driven adoption plan based on your challenges.

• How does it work?

We start the program with a stakeholder workshop. During this workshop we identify the challenges and determine the desired result together with the stakeholders. We guide the implementation of Viva, the configuration and implement a dashboard with your organization's privacy-protected data. We identify the greatest opportunities and provide tools on how to tackle them. This results in an adoption plan based on your current situation, organizational context, opportunities for improvement and the possible future dangers.
