

Better Collaboration with Microsoft Teams

In the new world of remote or hybrid offices, free your teams to innovate by improving collaboration with Microsoft Teams Solutions. This solution brings everyone together in one place to meet, chat, call, and collaborate.

Modern Collaboration in a Single Application

Many organizations are searching for the perfect collaboration suite that enables their workers to chat, share files, make calls, and hold conference calls, with security as a core foundation.

Some businesses are combining services (such as Okta, Zoom, Box, and Slack) to achieve this goal. Often, this results in a complicated administrative experience, workloads that don't interact seamlessly with one another, security and compliance complexity, and higher costs to the organization. Microsoft Teams can free your teams to innovate by bringing together everyone in one place to collaborate efficiently and effectively.

Microsoft Teams Planning Engagement

New Era's modern workplace architects specialize in the latest Microsoft collaboration and identity products to help you make the right choices for your organization's needs. In the Teams Planning Engagement, we offer customers an overview of Microsoft's productivity toolsets with a focus on Microsoft Teams to demonstrate the native capabilities that these products can provide.

As part of this engagement, we will evaluate your organization and provide suggestions on how these powerful collaboration and identity tools can help ensure a productive, secure environment for your employees, no matter where they're working from.
