Business challenge

Getting an objective return on your data investments is often hard to achieve. The promise of transformative change from new artificial intelligence techniques has eluded most organizations. Most data & analytics initiatives are not tied to high-value financial outcomes. It is often problematic for FP&A leaders to understand and drive the work done by more technical teams. As a result, organizations miss low-risk, high-value opportunities where machine learning models can be used to improve forecasts, budgeting, operations, risk analysis, revenue management, customer service, and supply chain efficiencies, to name just a few. How ready is your finance organization for AI?

How we help

Redapt's expert financial data scientists and value engineers work with FP&A, CFOs, and business line leaders to substantially increase organizational valuations through impactful advanced analytics initiatives. Redapt starts with a high level review of financials and can quickly move to structure opportunity plans for execution.

What to Expect

- Comprehensive review of financials for highest ROI target areas
- Executive envisioning session to explore the highest impact remediation options with the lowest risk and effort
- Estimation of magnitude for all discovered opportunities.
- Assessment of current data culture, analytical organization, and processes
- Executive and technical briefings with specific recommendations for FP&A process improvement and AI business impact options

Key takeaways

- Improved understanding of how to leverage advanced analytics to increase organizational valuation
- Opportunity assessment findings with ROI estimates and action plan
