

Fimple for Cloud Service Providers

- Give your clients the ability to automatically read hand-filled forms.
- Keep the data in Fimple and use it as a searchable repository, download it or load the data into your systems or your clients'.
- Automatically identify data that may need to be reviewed – e.g. where the client's customer filled it incorrectly or the hand-writing may not have been readable.
- App will allow you to quickly define multi-page form templates that you can selectively share with your clients including rules for automatically loading the form data into backend databases.
- Create your own Catalogue for your clients – with different rates for different commitment volumes and then set alerts and/or automatically enforced spending limits within each billing period.
- Control your client accounts manually with client account lock and release functions.
- Add as many client accounts to your account as you like.
- Your client's accounts (and your own) are completely private. They control who has access to the data – and if they wish – can provide you or your representatives with that authority.
- Your clients can add as many users to their account as they like and give each user the authority they need. They can define business units and specify user roles within business units. You can do the same with your own account.
- Download usage reports (as Excel CSV or Json) and automate issuing of invoices to your clients.
- Call us whenever you need support. We will walk you through the setup process and make sure you have what you need to get yourself and your clients up-and-running.
