

Data & Analytics Solutions

Drive meaningful change with insights from your data to build smarter applications, increase productivity, and surface business insights.

Unlock the value of data with Lunavi business insights and analytics solutions:

Data Strategy – Lunavi will assist in defining your expectations and desired outcomes, aligning your data with existing and compatible future technology. We will assess processes across your organization for handling and storing data to provide optimized and secure solutions.

Data Project Planning – Our experts combine Agile Project Delivery with the Azure Data Platform to align desired business outcomes for your data and application integrations to surface the insights identified within the overall strategy and vision.

Data Architecture – We'll work with your team to design and build the data environment with the right combination of platforms and services for your application, including migration, testing, integration, and subscription support.

Data Reporting & Refinement – Expert coaching, best practices, documentation, and processes are shared with your team so you're prepared to manipulate, report, and act on your insights. We also help refine the analytics to better serve your goals for the future.

Inform Your Decisions with Actionable Insights

Lunavi helps clients surface business insights from self-service solutions like Power BI, Azure Data, and Analytics platforms. We build "Smart Applications" and data platforms that:

- Utilize custom dashboards and data visualization for your unique use
- Build competitive advantage from embedding the intelligence into our solutions to give you an edge
- Combine the tools, data, and analytics into your application to create innovation to drive you forward

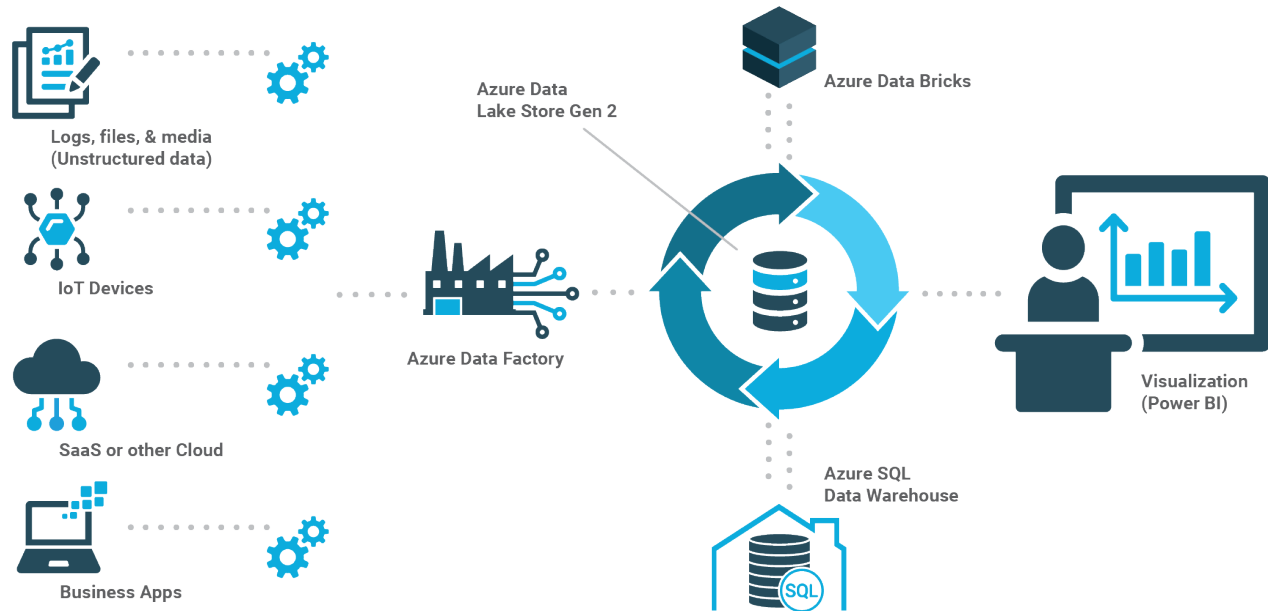

Power Platform & Azure Reports

The information you need, when you need it. With the power of cloud data platforms, Lunavi can surface insights that inform you at-a-glance on the state of your business operations. We are your Azure Expert MSP and can provide native integration with Microsoft Azure and 365 apps that you're using today. With these platforms and data integration, you can have real-time data and visualizations accessible on any device along with surfacing granular insights for any business initiative.

With the help of our experts, you'll be able to harness the power of your data to gain competitive business advantage.

Lunavi Cloud Analytics Workshop

Learn the fundamentals of Azure Data Factory and Power BI including an assessment of your existing data estate, an overview of data and analytics capabilities in the cloud, importing a dataset of your choice to Azure, and a custom dashboard based on identified KPIs and business goals.

While the past decade has been a story of moving from hardware-centric computing to application-centric computing, the next step is all about data. Your business already has it – huge volumes of information generated every day during normal operations. Learn how to start harnessing it using Microsoft Azure platforms and Power BI in this two-week workshop.

Lunavi consultants will help you take your first steps into the world of cloud analytics, including:

- Assessment of existing data estate and sources across your organization
- Overview of Azure data platforms including data warehousing, data lakes, import/export methods, system architecture, and governance
- Importing chosen dataset into Azure Data Factory, configuring Data Warehouse and/or SQL Server
- Designing custom dashboard in Power BI with essential metrics identified by your business
- If desired, substitution of Azure Synapse can be provided instead of SQL and Power BI combination, with additional cost
