COLLABORATION SPACES

COLLABORATION SPACES

As the nature of the workplace and the ways in which we work are rapidly evolving, ensuring your team have access to effective collaboration spaces is essential to a successful business. Whether you're looking to collaborate physically or virtually, or both, we can tailor your space to maximise its effectiveness.

WHAT ARE COLLABORATION SPACES?

Kinly's collaboration spaces aren't one size fits all. There are so many elements involved in creating the perfect rooms that are not only suited to your premises, but also the wants and needs of your teams.

A small, informal space might suit one-to-one meetings, or small team gatherings, and can be easily deployed at scale. For a more formal, private meeting, the traditional small meeting room still plays a vital role. Equipped with the capability for remote team members to 'dial in', they become some of the most used facilities within an organisation.

Beyond that, we can create more specialised rooms, such as board rooms, auditoriums, and training rooms. For your people to work well together, these rooms need to be effective, stylish and often multifunctional. Each collaboration space is different, but our goal is always the same: to create workspaces that just work.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS?

Expandable solutions:

We'll use AV over IP wherever possible. Distributing audio visual signals through IT infrastructure, we can be incredibly flexible, expanding your AV estate without any major infrastructure installs.

Range of room types:

We offer everything from huddle spaces to auditoriums and custom spaces so you can create the ideal locations for you and your clients to thrive.

We start with you:

There's no one size fits all with Kinly collaboration spaces. Our journey together begins with an in-depth consultation where we survey and analyse your offering, your current spaces and talk to end users to uncover pain points.

Lasting partnerships:

Here at Kinly, we only work with technology partners that can do the job well and deliver support at speed, because quality is always be our highest priority.

Full-service provider:

From initial ideas right through to delivery and beyond, Kinly can take care of the details. We're here to support you every step of the way.

THE PERFECT SPACE, TAILORED TO YOU

Video is quickly becoming a go-to tool for communication but, at Kinly, we know that long days on video calls can result in fatigue. And that isn't conducive to a collaborative, productive, effective environment. Ultimately, poor AV and a poor environment can have a big impact on your business.

People expect more of the places they work now that their experience of in-office working is more flexible. Collaborative office spaces need to work effectively and efficiently to suit, and empower, increasingly hybrid teams. We understand the power of the environment – to us it means more than high quality screens. It means the right placement of audio to remove echo in large rooms, uncluttered spaces to reduce overwhelm, correct plug placement so you're not wasting time trying to connect to power, and the right lighting to improve ambiance. Every single element needs to be the perfect fit to make your space the right one for your people.

WHAT WE'LL DELIVER

In-depth consultation

Our in-depth consultation services aim to uncover the best possible solution to promote collaboration within your business. Our experts can deploy site surveys, talk to end users and detect needs as well as desires. We won't just present our findings, we use 3D mapping so that you can visualise the suggested end result too.

Premium audio

We love video here at Kinly, but we put people first. That means we can't focus on just crystal-clear video, or how impressive your rooms look – all of this is meaningless if the audio quality isn't up to scratch. We analyse your rooms and equipment and assess your needs before looking at the best audio solutions for each room. This might include anything from microphone deployment and positioning, to choosing the best locations for speakers.

Adaptable AV

With an impressive range of both standard and bespoke rooms available, we'll always offer a preferred and recommended option that not only works best for your estate, but your people too. From LCD and LED, to stunning audio-visual options which fit seamlessly to your available space, we provide adaptable tools to ensure effective collaboration and communication in every room.

Flexible furniture

We think beyond the technology. We put people first, and for people, furniture matters. Comfortable, flexible and also effective, we consider every element, including plug and cable locations, how everything can be positioned to fit ever-changing activity, create the perfect collaborative environment and boast ultimate functionality.

Ongoing support

When you choose trusted suppliers to help deliver your bespoke collaboration spaces, we're still on-hand to support you. When you need answers, we'll act as conduit, contacting your vendors and relaying any necessary information and putting it into action. We'll continue to provide adoption support and suggest how your solution might be improved if we notice any blockers to achieving a good return on investment.

HOW WE'LL DELIVER THIS

Our professional services team will be by side every step of the way. From consulting on how we can fulfil your needs to designing a solution which does just that and seeing it installed, they'll be on hand to answer any questions and feedback ideas.

We see this as a collaborative, consultative process. Our people are best placed to find a combination of services which meet your needs – they're incredibly experienced and highly certified too. But we're always happy to hear ideas. We'll provide 3D sketches to help you visualise the audio-visual installations always recommend a range of options to suit your budget. With Kinly, you gain a trusted advisor. In the rapidly changing world of AV, that couldn't be more valuable.
