

- Data driven solutions:

During our business exploration and expansion, we encounter more and more companies with a clear need for solution to resolve their data gaps

We know many platforms and many other operational solutions when we encounter them as part of our projects implementations when designing a data solution on premise to answer a customer's data need.

We can offer two main offerings as a data driven solution, per business vertical or per application vertical.

The first can be a tailored made data solution per customer that will be cloud based. Instead of the customer having to deal with on premise environment, we can design the solution architecture to be based on cloud.

During our consulting we provide: mapping of current business discovery, definition of UC business and technological, UC for cloud, documentation for future activity.
