

Take back control of your tenant from GoDaddy and other 3rd party providers

ABOUT GODADDY DEFEDERATION

Thousands of businesses are stuck without full access to their tenants and admin privileges. Finchloom has developed a way to 'kick GoDaddy out' without the hassle of messy migrations and while maintaining all your valuable company data.

What can we do for you?

Restore your ability to manage your tenant without having to contact your service provider. Once the 3rd party is kicked out, and with Finchloom as your CSP, you receive access to all we have to offer. We become your one point of contact for all things Microsoft whether you need additional licenses, or access to support.

What We Offer

Finchloom has the Microsoft experience, professionals, and tools to help you escape the third parties that keep your tenant from you. Whether you need to consistently add and remove users, install new programs, or access your admin portal, we can get you the access you need, permanently.

Traditionally, customers must contemplate choosing the lesser of two evils, messy migrations to an Office 365 mailbox, and then moving it again, or maintaining ties with the 3rd party and paying higher premiums with less access to the services which are being paid for.

Instead of using the 3rd party's identity provider, Finchloom can easily make the switch to utilize Azure AD and associate ourselves to the tenant as a CSP. As an authorized reseller of Microsoft, we then become the delegated admin of the account, and with the permission of the customer, become their CSP partner. Our experienced professionals can even help your business make the switch in as little as 2 hours.