intelligent software licensing efficiency

—$407

*is wasted per PC on unused software
licenses every year*

... that is burning your money

Rentsoft Meter™ is designed to help your business be more cost-effective. With accurate software usage reports matched against software licensing entitlements you can identify wasted costs and improve your IT efficiency. By comparing different geographic locations and business units you can see which parts of your organization are benchmarks for usage and where you are wasting most of your software licenses.

Our unique reports automatically generate lists of devices where software application are not used to aid recycling or remedial training of users to get more use out of their resources.

Top Benefits

- Measure software usage by the minute. Providing usage reports and data that help you track when a user closes the software.
- Save money on software licenses. With expensive software licenses and services (we may want to avoid quoting currency on an international brochure) being wasted on unused resources every year, you will now be able to track and pay for only what you use
- Identify exactly how much money is wasted by application and business area to identify an improvement plan to raise an organisation up to benchmark efficiency levels.
- Create a detailed list of devices for re-harvesting of licences; re-negotiation of contracts; termination of excess support & Maintenance payments; recycling of surplus licenses.

The easy to use dashboard allows you to decide which software you want to track, and allows you to drill down into any individual title to analyse usage, allowing you to make informed decisions regarding future license purchases.
