

Improving Analytics for a Higher Education University

- Problem

- One higher education institution needed important analytics to improve their overall student experience. Although the university operates primarily online, they were looking for ways to better understand the information that their pre-existing systems gathered to help improve student engagement.

- Solution

- We built a reporting system through Azure that was connected to Nexus LMS, their system of choice.

- Benefits

- The reporting system we created allowed the university to see crucial pieces of information to ensure students were remaining engaged and successful during their remote learning.
