

Data Estate Planning & Implementation

Create a vast data estate within your organization

The Challenge

Microsoft Azure data services provides the ability for individuals and organizations to create a vast data estate consisting of databases, data lakes, data marts, semantic models, lakehouses, data warehouses and numerous external data sources.

With this topology of data comes the challenge of managing and governing it all and while the Cloud Adoption Framework's is an overall guide to programs and teams, organizations often need further guidance for data estate rationalization and skilling plans that is specific to cloud-scale analytics.

The Solution

Spyglass MTG can help with your Data Estate planning and implementation. We can help you inventory, catalog and model your disparate data to create curated data lakes for users to consume. We can help you organize your data estate into various domain centric lakes of data to ensure the right people are appropriately seeing the right data, modeled, and implemented in a highly efficient manner.

The Benefits

At the end of our engagement, clients will have:

- A well governed and curated domain managed data solutions which established Data Mesh Foundational principals
- Business domains will have access to unified sets of data curated especially for their needs
