Transform Employee IT Experience, Transform Your Business

Deliver the Best IT Services to Employees with Instant Visibility, Control and Resolution

I magine a world where your employees are satisfied with IT, where your incident tickets are greatly reduced and your digital transformation projects deploy seamlessly. It's closer than you think.

Nexthink's ground-breaking technology provides the visibility, control and instant resolution needed to deliver real-time IT services in a rapidly changing digital environment. Our approach combining both endpoint and end-user experience is unique.

Nexthink provides unrivalled speed and precision to analyze, visualize and act in real-time across all end-user computing data. We are laser-focused on the end-user experience, including getting employee perception, feedback and service consumption. With Nexthink, IT departments understand, in real time, what needs to be improved to help employees become more productive.

Nexthink's unique approach has helped 800+ companies generate measurable business benefits, all while improving their employee's digital experience – a critical competitive advantage in today's digitized workplace.

"With Nexthink, we have a factual and complete understanding of all end-user activities, and can easily baseline the user experience to create tangible metrics."
