

AI-masterclass

Artificial Intelligence (AI) has made its entrance into our daily lives and more and more organizations are latching on to this innovative technology. The possibilities for AI are endless and there is not one industry or sector that can't benefit from it. Still, a lot of organizations struggle to recognize AI use-cases and to execute such cases independently.

This makes sense, as it is difficult to generate and validate ideas when you don't have the knowledge and experience. Therefore, we offer an AIMasterclass in which you will discover what AI can do for your organization. More specifically, this AI-Masterclass gives you:

- Theoretical knowledge about AI;
- Practical knowledge about how AI projects become successful in an organization;
- Hands-on experience with a typical AI project-cycle;
- A concrete AI use-case that you can apply in your organization;
- Support in the further development of your AI use-case.

This Masterclass is interesting for you if you can find yourself in one of the criteria below:

- You are curious about new technologies and wonder how you can apply them in your organization;
- You have already started exploring the possibilities of AI in your organization, but you struggle to find concrete ideas and/or scope projects.
- You don't have a technical background, but you would like to experiment with AI
