Expert Profile

Manuel Cubillo

Global Vice President of Cloud Services

“Cloud adoption continues to grow, and all indicators show this trend to be accelerating. However, being “in the cloud” is not as important as really leveraging its capabilities and benefits to your business. A cloud enablement strategy is key for the evolution and competitiveness of any organization, not only to enable technology teams to be more efficient and cost-effective but as a way for the business to scale up and meet their strategic goal at all levels”.
