OMNIDATA

ANALYTICS-IN-ACTION

Data is the greatest untapped asset in your business. But how do you unleash the power of data to improve the future of your organization? Where do you start, what is the right technology and what are the right next steps?

OmniData's Analytics-in-Action engagement is designed to provide you with insight from real-world professionals and to craft a customized roadmap, specific to your organizational goals.

In all areas of your organization, our Analytics in Action offerings define where to focus to unlock your company's full potential, through data.

WHAT IS IT?

Analytics-in-Action is for companies that want an "assist" from seasoned professionals that have real world experience with the entire Microsoft analytics suite.

Analytics-in-Action is designed to frame the impact of next generation analytics, as it applies to your specific organizational needs.

The Analytics-in-Action engagement is designed to identify specific opportunities for analytics excellence in your organization and build a roadmap that will help get you there.

WHY DO IT?

Analytics-In-Action will help you lower your organization's technology risk, the overall cost of implementation, and your time to value by leveraging our field experience in analytics and data architecture.

Analytics-in-Action is 100% FREE of cost.

Highly skilled OmniData consultants will assess your organization, your readiness, and conduct a high-level environment review. This will help you identify your greatest opportunities, assess the gaps and obstacles and map out the fastest path to success and an end-to-end analytics view in your organization.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Analytics-in-Action helps you frame the value of analytics, specific to your organization and provide the most efficient roadmap to success.

Analytics Environment Review: This review examines the current analytics landscape in your organization.

Analytics Envisioning Session: This is an interactive session with decision makes in your organization to showcase the value of analytics in a simple and powerful way.

Analytics Roadmap: The roadmap provides you with a checkpoint for your current analytics environment and tangible next steps for your organization.

OmniData.com / info@OmniData.com / (866) 585-6664