

The complete end-to-end contract lifecycle solution

Definely is the only unified contract solution that allows lawyers to create, draft and review legal documents in one place, with one tool.

1 Create bespoke contracts, faster

Vault leverages large language models on your organisation's proprietary contract repository and data, allowing you to surface and insert precedent clauses and information where you need it in your documents.

2 Draft contracts and never lose context

Draft allows you to access and edit all of the information (defined terms and references) contained within any agreement without ever having to navigate away from the clause or provision being reviewed.

3 Protect your reputation and produce pristine contracts

Proof automates hundreds of proofreading checks with the click of a button. Ensure your contracts are watertight and say goodbye to manual proofreading.

4 Unlock any PDF legal document

PDF gives you access to key information (every cross-reference, defined, undefined and unused term) in your PDF legal document with a double-click.
