Integrate Any Data, Any Application, Anywhere

Realizing the Value of a Connected Firm: Application and Data Integration Are Critical Building Blocks

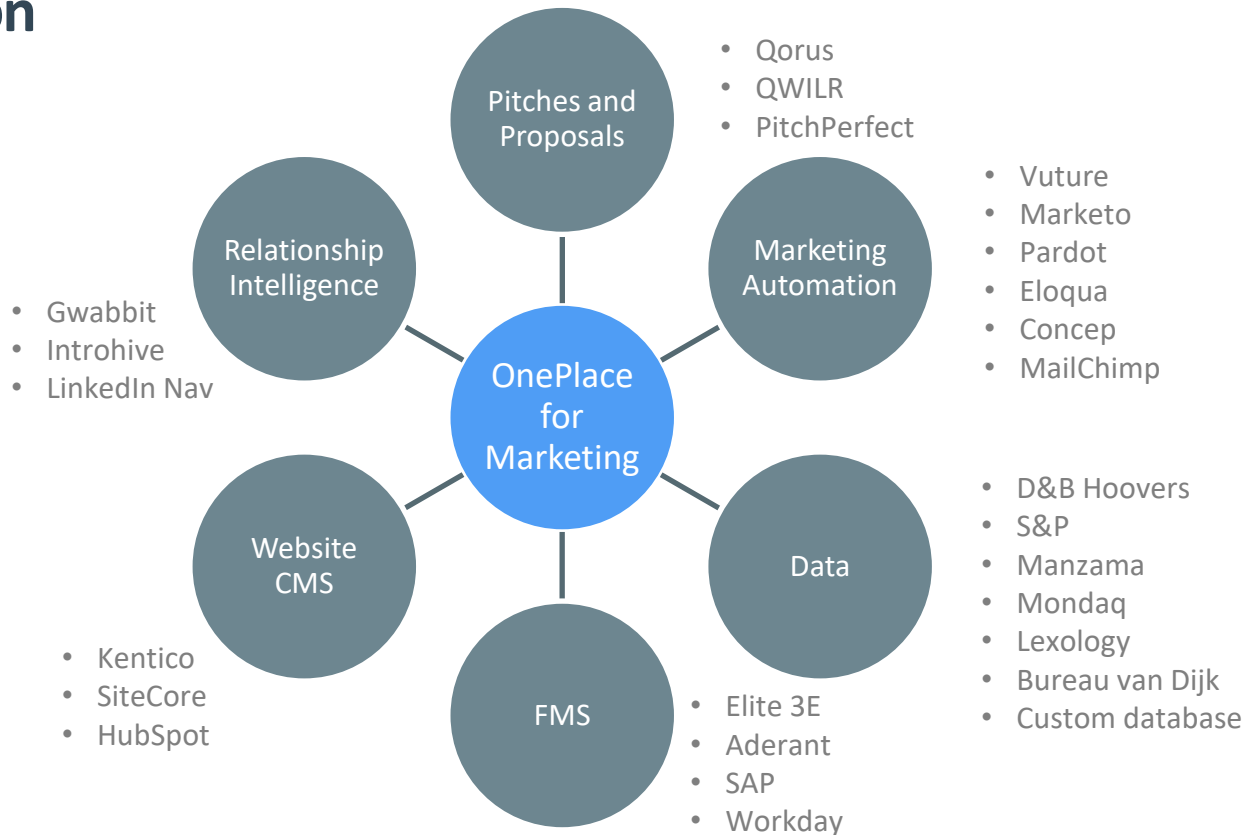

An average midsize firm maintains hundreds of applications critical to enabling front-end and back-end operations. A firm needs seamless integration across these applications for a variety of purposes, from enabling basic functionality to improving decisionmaking.

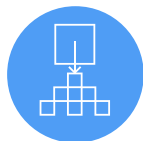

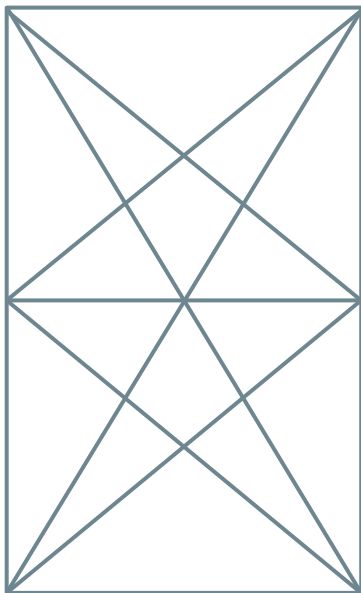

Every New Data or Application Requires Multiple Integrations for Complete Activation

The Current Situation: Point-to-Point Integrations Can't Keep Pace with Growing Needs

- Difficult maintenance at scale
- Many resources required for maintenance
- Increased information silos
- Ineffective hybrid integration support
- Missing capabilities for real-time processing of large data volumes
- Burdensome requirements for custom code and IT involvement
- No industry-specific prebuilt capabilities

Introducing Intapp Integration Service: Integrate Any Data, Any Application, Anywhere
