Productivity Studio: FY23 Manage and Evolve Service

Overview

Elevate experiences and generate business value at speed with Avanade Productivity Studio, the managed service that empowers continuous workplace evolution. Organizations are under pressure to simultaneously transform work and maximize productivity, while surviving (and seeking to thrive in) an era of continual change. These challenges are tough enough to solve, even if your internal IT team isn't stretched, but you're unlikely to be overflowing with the capacity or internal capabilities to address obstacles like these any time soon.

Productivity Studio is a capacity-based managed service that maximizes the power of your workplace, combining industry-leading advisory capabilities, technical expertise and Avanade's privileged Microsoft access. This is workplace managed services done differently – steered by a backlog that addresses the business challenges you're facing or opportunities you want to capture. Developed in conjunction with (and used by) Microsoft, Productivity Studio brings the best of Avanade's industry-leading workplace insight and expertise, solution and governance accelerators, and coding and security standards to help our clients improve their workplace experience.

Productivity Studio's advisory-led approach identifies how to improve end-to-end experiences and generates sustainable business value at speed. Delivered through agile pods, it flexibly adjusts the skill mix and capacity as your business needs and as objectives change. You benefit from the speed and scale necessary to generate immediate and continuous value, maximizing the value of client's investments in Microsoft 365 and Power Platform.

That means you can address everything from collaboration friction and remote work security roadblocks through to frontline worker empowerment and the automation of manual tasks. More than that, Productivity Studio enables you to reshape your operating model, bringing IT and business units together to rapidly innovate and iterate core processes, products and services. The scalable team provides long-term operations, ensuring compliance and appropriate governance, while maximizing the value of your Microsoft ecosystem investment. We help you solve urgent challenges today while building for tomorrow.
