Short Video Creative Production System Introduction

The Short Video Creative Production System is an innovative solution that combines AI with robotic technology to automate the creation of engaging video content. It generates original scripts, captures high-quality footage, and edits it into polished videos, all at high efficiency. Ideal for e-commerce and social media, this system enhances marketing impact while reducing costs.

2019-2023

Developing an AI film and television creative system based on AI and robot automatic control, a fully automatic synthesis rendering system, and a series of robots provide fixed scene users with efficient and low-cost multi machine shooting of the entire project. One system can complete the professional filming work of a small film and television team, reducing the shooting cost to 1/10 and shortening the production time to 1/30, leaving more space for users to perform on their own. Having gone through 3 generations of iterations, the T1 T3 series has 10 patents and 6 invention patents
