

Autonomous Cloud Essentials

The key goals of public cloud management are cost reduction and time saving, with over 70% of organisations stating that optimising their use of public cloud is a top initiative. Ultima's Autonomous Cloud Essentials allows you to run an efficient public cloud for your IaaS services by helping reduce the cost of the underlying platform by up to 10%. It also reduces the amount of human interaction needed through detailed alerting and automated documentation, leading to a time saving of up to 72 hours.

Cost Optimisation

The cost optimisation engine that is built into Autonomous Cloud Essentials provides a real time view of where you can make cost savings in your environment at the click of a button. Autonomous Cloud Essentials scans your environment for resources that have become orphaned and are no longer in use, these resources typically make up around 10% of the cost of an Azure environment.

Documentation

Our documentation engine provides full architectural documentation every 2 months for your IaaS services. As part of the documentation, there is a high-level executive summary of the environment and then a detailed configuration for the IaaS services. Whilst this would take up to 72 hours to compile this documentation manually, the automated documentation service reduces this down to a single click.

Alerting

To reduce the time to resolution for customers, the cloud native and agentless monitoring and alerting system provides instant notification of issues, straight to your inbox. This covers both virtual machine metrics as well as environmental metrics. Onboarding is no concern either, with all machines automatically onboarded into the platform with no effort and zero touch.

Upgrading

Upgrading from Autonomous Cloud Essentials to our Advanced or Ultimate services is easy and non-disruptive, and can provide enhanced cost savings across not only IaaS services but PaaS services too. The upgraded versions also provide automated backups and patching, further reducing the amount of effort required to manage your Azure environment.
