Enabling better business decisions through intelligent reporting

tech+wise(group)[®]

Getting access to information in a timely manner to inform better decisions is difficult and time consuming

Concerns many organizations are well familiar with

How to allocate working capital considering production costs and anticipated sales to maximize business value

How to augment corporate information with advanced analytics to make better decisions

How to easily apply unique analytics to disperse data

How to seamlessly extract data from various data sources and even spreadsheets into one data source

Transforming with Data

By 2020 extra productivity benefits gained by organizations able to analyze all relevant data and deliver actionable information will result in $430B across industries

8% of additional operating income due to savings generated by the most digitally transformed enterprises

What is the Ideal Solution?

It scales across various divisions and departments

It allows to create reports quickly and efficiently using a library of reports and robust analytics platform powered by Azure

It works with existing data sources including Dynamics, Hyperion, other financial or business systems, as well as Excel spreadsheets.

It allows to save hundreds of thousands of dollars that an organization would otherwise be paying to contractors for highly manual data processing work

It allows to capitalize on our existing investment in Office 365, Azure and the Microsoft platform

It connects to a plethora of existing tools including collaboration platforms and data visualization platforms

It allows to forecast

It adds efficiency and saves money
