In today's rapid evolving environment, most organizations are familiarizing themselves with the concept of Software/Solution as a Service (SaaS).

Although SaaS is a massive leap from the traditional disparate approach of hardware, software and some services, it still leaves too many key success factors to chance.

Mint is combining the services of leading PaaS provider, Microsoft, with its own services, managed services and IP to provide an industry first guaranteed Outcome as a Service (OaaS) offer.

So, what does this mean for your cloud journey and the running thereof?

Ever wonder whether to prioritize lift and shift over modernisation?

Why choose when you can drive both?

The table on the next slide shows how elements of SaaS, PaaS, Managed Services, and Services as combined as one offer not only provides the client with a technically-sound solution as a service, but also a guaranteed Outcome as a Service.
