Org@Work

Adapting organizations to the work-from-home era

Our beliefs :

- The Covid Crisis durably upset the balance of on-site and remote working

- Remote work is now key to business organization : it should be dynamic and take into account business and people constraints

- The use of office space is transformed by these changes : offices and production sites must be adapted to meet new needs and surfaces can be optimized

Our guiding principles :

- A tool which integrates both workers constraints and company rules

- Worker / manager relationship at the core of the new working organization

- Fair, simple and transparent rules

- Space optimization made possible by the new balance between on site and from home work

- Easily exploitable data to adjust rules on the go

- A simple, intuitive and easily deployed app

Org@Work

One tool for your entire organization

Employee

- I fill in my planning based on personal organization & constraints, within the framework defined by the company

- I can work on site in safe, optimal conditions

- I can organize physical meetings as I know when my colleagues are on site

Direct manager

- Based on my team's schedules, I can manage the balance between on-site & remote working within the framework set by the company

- I can organize on-site meetings & collective moments

- I can manage specific situations in real time

- I can manage the occupancy rate of my team's workplace

Org@Work

- ☑ On site / remote working resources management

- ☑ Easy decision making (management rules, dashboards,…)

- ☑ Workspace management : monitor occupancy rate

- ☑ Collaborative tool

- ☑ Reports & dashboards

- I define the work organization framework & provide the organization with the appropriate tools

- I have reliable data to adapt and make decisions in real time

- I can optimize workspaces & facilities management

- We share clear & common rules, taking into account individual situations

- We have up-to-date data to facilitate organization & information sharing
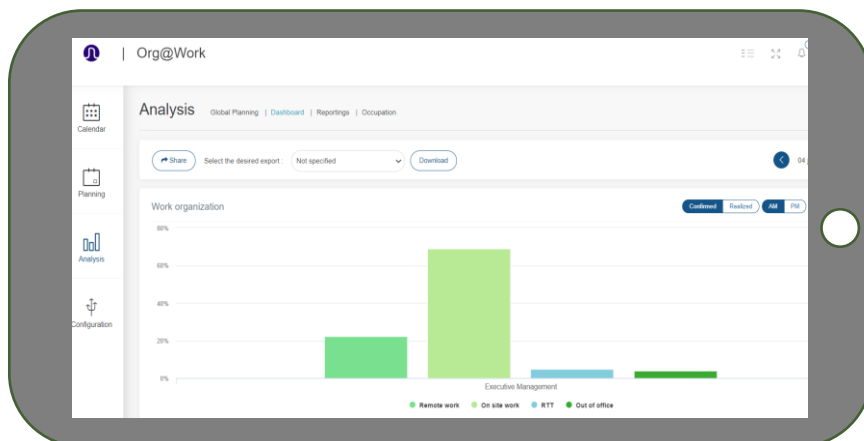

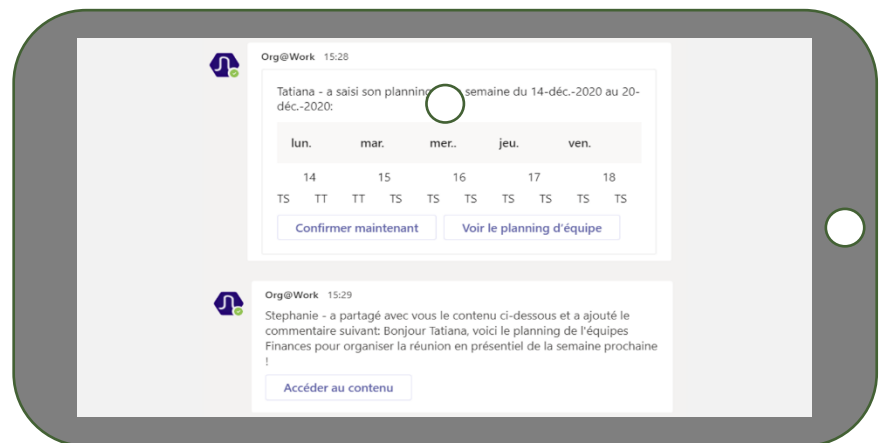

- We contribute to building a new work model
